EAST OHIO GAS TO SHOW CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF ART OBJECTS

An exhibition of MAY SHOW creative arts from The Cleveland Museum of Art will be on view in The East Ohio Gas Company Lobby for three weeks beginning April 11. Each week the Museum will display a new group of paintings, sculpture, graphic arts, crafts, textiles and photography from previous MAY SHOWS.

This year the 42nd MAY SHOW will open at The Cleveland Museum of Art on May 4 and be on view through June 12 in the Special Exhibition Gallery.

Since 1919 MAY SHOWS have focused the attention of metropolitan Cleveland upon the artistic work of local artists. First, Second and Third Prizes, Honorable Mentions and Special Awards are given to outstanding art entries. Judging is done by an out-of-town Jury of art authorities. First they select the work to be displayed, which is usually 15 to 20 per cent of the three to four thousand entries. The Museum provides sales people during the MAY SHOW and purchases are made by the public and by the Museum.

Display space in the lobby of The East Ohio Gas Company has been offered to a number of local organizations during the past year, based on the interest of Clevelanders last year in the Museum's initial display there.

This exhibition of MAY SHOW objects closes April 30.
